Correspondence of The N. Y. Tribune.

Sr. Paul, Jan. 25, 1859. A large meeting has recently been held here by our business men, the object of which was to place a steamboat on the Red River of the North as early as Proposals were received from one party who now has a steamboat in the waters of the Crow Wing River, near the mouth of the Gull River, which point is only ninety miles from Breckenridge, the head of navigation on Red River. This is the first steamboat that ever ascended the Mississippi as high as Crow Wing, and was taken over the Little Falls during the very high waters of last Spring. The owner offers for a bonus of $2,000 to transport on sleds immediately the machinery, and such portions of the boat as is prac-ticable, and by the 15th of May next to launch the beat at Breckenridge, or at some other point that may be thought best for the purpose. The owner is confident of success in the undertaking, and offers to give good and sufficient bonds to the amount of $5,000 fe the faithful performance of the contract. Nearly the requieite amount of funds has been raised by private subscription for the purpose, and the Board of Trade of St. Paul, in addition, offer a bonus of $500 each for three boats, to be delivered in the Red River any time during the Summer of 1859.

There was a partial recovery in prices at the Stock Exchange to-day, although at the start nearly everything opened lower. The buyers were very well dis selves of the opportunity afforded to realize profits. Some of the most inveterate growlers, however, who tributed, but many of the purchases were for short account, and there has been, within a day or two, a very large amount of that interest closed up, most of the prudent operators upon the bear side availing themnever see the bottom line for stocks, are quite as ready to put out fresh contracts at the reduced prices, and they have generally been very well accommodated during the day. The sales of various stocks, publicly and privately, by one party, whose operations have been the main support of the market hitherto, have en, according to all accounts, enormous, and it is reasonably concluded that the unloading process must be nearly if not quite complete. It is argued by many in the street, that the effect of scattering so much stock will be beneficial to the market-in the removal of that constant apprehension which has been entertained of being flooded with stock, as soon as any upward movement fairly commences. The concentration of large masses of stock in the hands of a chque, or an individual, is always an objectionable feature in a speculative point of view, and the knowlwige of such a fact frequently deters others from actclined to take an interest in the movements. In this point of view, the change in the position of stocks which has recently been going on is madvantageous one for the market, and it is quite possible that new movements for the rise, with a welldistributed and steady support, may be more successfol than the courageous but rather too extensive operations to which we have frequently alluded of late. One of the most interesting stocks of the day was Pacife Mail, which leaps up and down in the scale of figares in the most singular and incomprehensible manter. The excitement this morning was intensified by the actual announcement of the opening of Vanderbil's opposition line, through an advertisement in the morning papers, which informs the public that the North Star will leave for Aspinwall March 10, connecting at Panama with the Uncle Sam. The Mail Company, we hear, appear quite adignant and surprised at the steps taken by Commodore Vanderbilt, and intimate that appromise will not be attempted, and that they will ight the Commodore at his own wespons. The te Company. This movement may be occasion for adignation, but certainly not any for surprise, in regard to a measure which THE TRIBUSE has been hinting to the public for some sixty days past. The Money market, according to the evidences which movements in the business world furnish, has passed its maximum of plethora, and we are now apparently at the entrance of a period of greater activity in its employment. With the opening of Spring the promises of business are cheerful, and coincident with the returning life and activity in trade must come, as a natural sequence, a very welcome disturbence of the huge masses of idle capital which have been rolling over singgishly and unhealthily in the nonthly subsidy of $55,000 will, of course, be saved to great centers of business at low rates of interest. Activity in money, however, is far from indicating an approach to scarcity. Discount rates may advance, of course, but not beyond the legal standard for many months, and the only change to be expected is a more profitable employment of capital, with an abundance at the advanced rates. Whoever sees in this cause active empkyment of capital, so far from giving oc-casion for alarm, should be hailed with gratification, as a sign of recovery from paralysis and stagnation. As the accumulations of capital in the large cuies are on of the call. The Western shares were generally disturbed and moved in various directions, industry adimproving market, and was in demand at 111] at turn of interest figures to 6 and 7 per cent, in place of 3 and 4, will be the quickening of trade throughout the land. We have made a general advance of half a cent upon our quotations of this day week, but readers need a little explanation fully to understand the condition of the market. It will be seen by our Albany Cattle Market Report, that owners there generally held their cattle at about one cent a pound net advance upon the the previous week, but that few were sold. Owners came into this market with the same views, and the opening prices of Tuesday were based upon that calculation, and a few were sold at that; but the brokers soon found that it takes two to make a bargain-that butchers were willing to concede an advance of half a cent, and all that could be got over that would be by the hardest kind of work; so we found that the sales of Tuerday footed up unusually small; it was a a dragging market, and before night there was a general cessation of business. This morning opened with a good deal of briskness for first-class cattle. The butchers were willing to pay IIc. for first-class, but they were not to be had. After taking out about 200 head, the balance was made up of Western Steers, good and bad-some that look as though they never came nearer a corn-crib than across a ten acre field, and knew little of the value of corn except what they had derived from shucks. To these aid old stags, poor work ozen, and miserable old cows, altogether as hard a lot as we ever saw in these yards, and that made up the supply of the day. There were a few extra or premium fat oxen that sold at 413 at 20. P fb, while some of the poorest brought hardly 7c., so that the variation between extremes of prices was about 5c.; and while owners of the best were well ratisfied, the owners of the worst were very sure that the market was no better than last wook-is fact that I ave

SPICES—The market is very inactive at the moment; small offers, particularly as the day advanced, and, from the sales of Pepper have been made at 94 000 m. — the latter an outside figure. Notinger are quiet at 57000c.

STEARIN—The stock is limited, and in the absence of sales ing prices yesterday, or not sell. The result is, that ing prices yesterday, or not sell. The result is, that although the market on the whole, and particularly for good stock is better, it is not so much better as owners anticipated, and that some folks are convinced owners anticipated, and that some folks are convinced that it will not bear crowding with such stock as it was filled with yesterday and to-day.

In our notes of sales we have aimed to get enough to include all grades.
